is used an hour is saved. On floors, tables and painted work it acts like charm. For scouring pots, pans and metals it has no equal. If your store-keeper does not keep it you should insist upon his doing so, as it always gives satisfaction and its immense sale all over the United States makes it an almost necessary article to any well supplied store. Everything shines after its use, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

The New-Old South.

EDITOR SENTINEL: -It is wonderful to ote the difference between the old and ew south. Not only have great hanges occured in the social spheres here, but more than changes, absolute evolutions in the business and econonie world. A quarter of a century ago abbage was an import article and Irish statoes a rarity. Now from Cleveland Cincionati and St. Louis the early oring and winter market gets 75 per ent of its cabbage from the lower Alauna truck farms. Potatoes from the burbs of Mobile find first sale throughout the central north. The truck farms around Mobile alone will ship $600,000 worth of vegetables this year.

An acre of cabbage produces 6,000 ead twice a year or 12,000 in the year. It costs $100 per acre to raise each crop out the two creps average $400 each or 8800 for the two-A profit of 8000 per acre. Petatoes average about $400 proft per year. This countsy has an advantage in that, one man here can till forty acres, while one can not more than care for ten acres of cotton and not over five acres of cabbage or potatoes on an average. That would give a corn farmer here on the basis I have calculated $360 on his forty acres of corn. And a cabage farmer $3,000 profit on his five icres of cabbage. To secure a crop of abbage however, one must have more capital than in either of the other crops. His fertilizer alone will cost him $50 per acre for the two crops. He must have his crates and run more risks of losses by 'a lure of markets, etc. But his comcosation is remarkable. To recompense the truck farmer still more in the south he is less subject to damage from brouth or frosts. If our crops fail instoad of waiting till next year to begin again, and expending his savings in biding the season," he immediately puts in another crop, as many as four crops tifteen months are quite common at Mobile. The lend needs no rest as it is fed for each crop by the fertilizer required for the be t growth of that particular

While it requires more capital to cultivate the soil there, the results are nore favorable, less subject to fluctuation of values, and on the whole more atisfactory then anywhere else between the oceans. Mobile county has many ruck farmers who have paid for their farms, houses and improvements twice o.er by one yea.'s success in cabbage and potatoes. The figures given are beow the average of former years. The most successful operators are northern people who have gone there and become the leaders in a new field, and as always, iave been welcomed warmly by the generous people of the south who are always giad to extend the hand of fellowship to every worthy home seeker who comes among them. Any one desirous of reading up on that county will be furnished all sorts of statistical and general literaare by addressing the Commercial Club of Mebile which is maintained as a sort of information bureau and visitors there either for pleasure or business are corlially entertained by it. Yours Truly.

A Literary Sensation. Not a little curiosity has been displayed as to the possibility of her omplete withdrawal from the field of tters. It is now nearly three years ince anything of importance has apeared from her pen, but no one has Phillips & Buttorff Manufacturing Co. elieved that the exceptionally brilliant author of "A Brother to Dragons" bad nished her career as a writer. A recent aragraph in the daily papers announcd the fact that Mrs. Rives Chanler was ard at work upon a new novel destined arouse the entire literary world by its artistic merit and bold originality. There have been many conjectures advanced s to the probable source through which be new novel would be given to the oublic. Notwithstanding the high prices which Mrs. Chanler demands for her manuscripts, it was known that many publishers were in the field in competiion for her latest work. While many imors were affoat, the Cosmopolitan dagazine had quietly secured it and placed it in the hand of a famous artist Paris for illustration. It is announcd now that the first chapters will apsear in the August comber of the Cosopolition, and that, in the estimation of rities who are most competent to judge, this last story will be the most finished. s well as interesting, product of this rsatile southern pen.
